Description: I like it! Please rate this app Would you recommend this app to a friend? Yes No 6 11 of 11 users found this review helpful Requires Database - 1 by Ragavan Vamanan September 21, 2015 Only semi-functional without the database App is good if you know what you are doing. Requires a database. Requires that you enter all of your details, and the database requires that you set up the user names. Allows for tracking of a contact, but no options to store how they contact you, and no way to track activity. Most of the options are non-functional unless you have the database. Support is a joke, no response. Please rate this app Would you recommend this app to a friend? Auto Shop Invoicer is a very handy application, and with its features you can automate many of your accounts, contacts and tasks. It's a time saver and if you do a few things right it should make your life a little easier. My only gripe is that you can't create a client database which means you cannot enter new clients unless you re-enter the details of existing clients (which makes no sense). It's something you can live with if you need to make sure that you enter all clients at the same time. Other than that, it's very easy

Auto Shop Invoicer is an application designed for use in auto repair shops. The main window contains four main panes. First, you can manage customers and their vehicles. You can fill in details about the customer, and create a new customer and vehicle if need be. The vehicle details includes the make, model, and the odometer reading. The customer can be added by filling in details about the customer. You can add a tag to the customer, and what information you want to keep about that customer. There are several settings that can be altered to personalize the application. If the customer wants, he can select the type of tax he uses in invoices. Furthermore, invoices can be edited with their make, model, and a price added. In the products area, you can keep track of any part from any make and model. Each product is editable, with a price tag, description, and a purchase history of the product. Each product can be tagged to keep a history of the product and its last owner. The items can be filtered to only show the most current price and the best price, and the total and average price for the last 30 days. The products can be sorted by the current price or the lowest price. You can add a vehicle to the database, and what make and model it has, and if it is your customer or not. This information can also be edited. The vehicle data can be read only, and the main problem is that you cannot keep track of customer activity.
