Herein we report a design strategy for building highly active, heterogeneous electrocatalysts for the oxygen reduction reaction (ORR) through the combination of the redox properties and reactivity of hyperbranched MoS2-based materials. The structural stability of these composites is highlighted by their capacity for sustained electrolyte absorption. The well-dispersed MoS2 layers of the hybrids are also stable in this medium for extended times. These materials show a high tolerance for the incorporation of bulk metal oxides, among which Cu and Ni are particularly active for the ORR, while Co and Mn are rather inactive. The type of support material (S/Pt and S/Cu) can be readily controlled by the design of the architecture, its degree of filling, and the ratio between metal oxide and polymer present in the hybrids. This strategy provides a flexible and scalable method for the synthesis of hybrid electrocatalysts with tunable structures and compositions.Q: Google Drive Python update multiple files in a folder I'm trying to make a script that will update multiple files within a folder in google drive. I have this script: # Grive API data import os import sys import shutil import googleapiclient.discovery import google_auth_oauthlib.flow #imports from google.oauth2.safe import Storage import google_auth_oauthlib.flow # auth scopes: SCOPES = [''] # This Narrate paperback    8.99 at bn.com.au. That is the only thing I know, but I'm not going to have a look when the book arrives. Hugo, with its theme of masculinity, is at least as significant.. Even with its muchvaunted editor, the book is not of a high quality. Discover great books and get the latest news on books and reading.

Q: How to pass arguments to an engine function in Qgis? When using the QgsMapCanvas you can set the setCursor function to a function with a variable number of arguments: map = qgis.core.QgsMapCanvas() map.setCursor(cursor) Is there any way to pass arguments to the function in similar manner, and if so, how? A: Use qgis.core.QgsCursor.setCursor() method: m = qgis.core.QgsMapCanvas() m.setCursor(qgis.core.QgsCursor.setCursor) m.refresh() Q: What is the error in this recursive function? simple token-based parser I'm beginner in programming and I had some problems with my recursive function. I have this little simple grammar and parser. As I should be, it should parse numbers in the format shown on the examples (first input below, then second input). But I get different results every time I run it (specially for the second input). The correct answer is 1, shouldn't be 3? First input: 6 Second input: 5.33333 Code: #include #include #include bool isValidNumber(std::string input) { for (int x = 0; x < 9) { return false; } } return true; } int main() { std::vector numbers; while (1) { 6d1f23a050
