Elden Ring Features Key:

A Vast World Full of Excitement & Skillful Combinations

Create Your Own Character & a Dynamic Story Throughout Multiplayer & Events

Elden Lords Must Ride Full Throttle to Defeat the Darkspawn

An Unforgettable Ancient Ritual to Experience!

Trials of Elden Ring brings RPG to a new high

- The Fantasy RPG Where RPGs Collapse into Action

The Problem of the MMO Game

- System has become a reflection of the creator-player relationship
- In an MMO, the environment quickly becomes habitual to the creator-player
- The mind of the players quickly fragments, and the diversity of their opinions increases
- Once the freedom of the game has been lost, it becomes difficult to maintain the game state

The Solution of the MMO Game

- Free the creator to freely change, and then move slowly to promote an environment where the game is freely changed by the creator-player relationship
- Free the players to take part in an interactive game state without restriction
- At this point, move slowly, freeing the ultimate freedom of the players.

and much more... It's not too late!!

What's new:

Enjoy Legendary Fighting Game vs Battle Symphony: Luvinia
ÔÔÔ(□□Λ2015) at Vuduly!

Luvinia ÔÔÔ (The Legendary Fighting Game) ©2003 Konami Players can choose to play as Luvinia ÔÔÔ in Vaudeville!

Battle Symphony: Luvinia ÔÔÔ (The Traditional Music Band Play a Popular Luvinia ÔÔÔ Song) ©2007 Daisuki As a traditional music band, players get to enjoy a popular song as they play the important roles of Luvinia ÔÔÔ's band.

DAYFLY x Lucky-Boom (A Cockroach! A Bug! It's so many!) ©2014 Falcom In the whirling fighting game, DAYFLY is the cockroach that turns the tide with its powerful strikes, while the Lucky-Boom defeats and lays harm to DAYFLY with its clockwork kicks and strategic usage of special moves.

Lucky-Boom (A Bug: It's so many so many, and so many so many, and so many...) ©2014 Falcom In Lucky-Boom, the scope of the Lucky-Boom is represented by the number of its special moves that you can use.

Vuduly (Vaudeville!...) Vaudeville at Vuduly is a show where you (the player) and a partner play a popular Song through popular games.

The partnership is done on in a "Vaudeville Gun" which allows you to see the stage that your partner plays, as well as the scenery and partner's expression.

Players move their partners by calling out commands such as, "command 1, Rock out!", "command 5, cha-cha!", and "command 7, clap!". "Rock out" and "cha-cha" are part of a pattern.

"Command 8, snap!".

Using commands results in defining the special moves of Lucky-Boom and DAYFLY

Production Why do you need a tripod for video? Many people choose to shoot video with their phone or other camera that doesn't require a tripod. This is an understandable choice, as many people don't want to spend the money on a tripod (especially on a video budget). The downside is that if you do decide to shoot video without a tripod, the angle of the phone or camera will be held stationary in relation to the scene, so when you edit the video, you'll have to select the camera's perspective in the editor to make it look like it's the camera's angle in space, and not the phone or other camera's angle in space. This is one of the reasons why it's a best practice to shoot video using a tripod when possible. The camera's perspective is held steady, so the video editing process will be much simpler. When do you need a tripod for video? When you're doing outdoor video, like bike races or country fairs, you definitely don't want the camera to be on a tripod. You need to be able to move around freely because there are many things that can go wrong in the middle of a race or fair that would make the camera unstable on a tripod. Alternatively, if your goal is to shoot videos for an animated film, and you want to capture the scene as accurately as possible, you don't want the camera to be on a tripod. If the camera is on a tripod, it's not going to move, and will not record the scene in the same way the camera's actually positioned. When do you need a small tripod for video? If you're shooting video with your phone or other camera, then you don't need to invest in a large tripod. You can use a smartphone, as
