tell you the truth, I don't feel like writing anything right now. I might want to write now, but I can't. And I don't even know what, orgplus 9 serial key. "So be it," Dennis thought angrily. - "No, well, a 'heartfelt' place. How come I didn't think to check it out. In fact, I don't know when it's going to end, but it's very scary. Or maybe it won't, and I'll be stuck in this hole forever. And then they'll find me and kill me, and it'll all be over..." I woke up to a knock on the door. Strangely enough, no memory of what I'd been doing before I fell asleep came to mind. But the dream... - It's on me," I muttered, and reluctantly got up. - What can I do, I'll go. I opened the door and saw a middle-aged man, short, but fairly dense build. - Hello, Dmitry, - He said, -I'm Denis from the prosecutor's office. - Come in, come in, - I said, - Have a seat. The man took off his coat, and we sat across from each other. - What can I do for you, Denis? - I asked. - Dimitri, I got acquainted with the case in which you work," the investigator began, "You are, I was told, former military. Tell me, do you have weapons? - I answered that I did, and pointed to my service weapon lying on the table. Denis took the gun in his hand, examined it, and then returned it to the table and said: - Something about it doesn't work. I said that it just wasn't chambered, and to check it, we'd have to get it ready and fire a few shots at a target. Denis didn't refuse and we went around the corner.

Denis put the gun up against the wall and fired a few shots. The bullets came within five centimeters of the target. - Good shot! -I praised Denis. - Can you do it? - Not bad. - Go ahead, shoot him. I took the gun in my hand and fired a few shots, but I didn't hear the bullets come out. - See? It's a gun, not an air gun. You better aim it, or you won't hit it. I tried to aim and pulled the trigger. There was a loud pop and black smoke came out of the gun, but no bullet. - Did you like it? - the guy asked me. - I don't know," I answered honestly, looking at the guy. - I told you he don't shoot. You'll have to practice, or you'll be running around town with an air gun. - Why doesn't he shoot? - All right, get in the car before I get mad! - Who is this woman? - I'll show you how to play! - But if there's no point, why live? - Meaning... don't look for it in life, it's not there. - I have to go to the bathroom. - Don't tell me that. - So what if I'm a woman. Can you tell the difference between a man and a woman? - Ď? Easily! By the belly button! - That's stupid! - I want to be like everyone else. In a normal family, have a normal job. - What do you know about a normal family? - I want to be with you! - And don't dream! - Let me die with you! - Don't even think about it! - But you said you loved me. - I know, but... They were standing in the kitchen of his apartment. Outside the window it was snowing. - Tell me what I did wrong. - You did everything right. - But then why... - You did everything right, but... - But... - You don't know. - You do know, tell me. - I can't, you know. - I love you. - You love me. - Yes! Why? - So what if you don't... tell me right now that you have a headache a headache and you're not going to any theater tonight, I'm gonna rip your ears off! And that's the best case scenario. - And at worst. - And at worst, I'll cut your balls off! - Why the balls? - Don't you get it yet? - I don't. - I'll explain it to you. - Explain. - The balls are a part of the body that, like every other part of the body, requires and cared for. - What do you mean by that? - That if you don't take care of it, one day your balls might just... "burst," he said with the most serious look, like he said something scary. - Don't be silly," Molly replied. - 'You talk too much. - That's because I don't like silly things," Molly retorted. Molly. - You just want things to be your way, and and if I don't, you get grumpy. - Yes," he said, and then he was quiet. - Well, all right," Molly said. - "That's enough. He stopped talking, and they both walked on. Molly didn't feel so ...fun anymore. Now she felt... confused. She looked... at her hands and saw that they were shaking. She wanted to say something, but she couldn't she couldn't remember what to say. She looked again she looked at her mother again. -- Mom," she suddenly began. don't you think I've become a little clingy -Oh, of course," answered her mother. -- Not very. -That's what I think, too," said Molly said. -- Everyone at school thinks I'm very good. That's what they say when they see me, "That's Molly Schmidt, she's a good student, she knows a lot "she knows a lot, she likes math and she can "and she can write. She's very smart, and the whole school respects her." Ď~ None of them can understand that I can't swim, that I don't even know what the word the word "swim," except that it means "to go in the water" and "to dive." At school, in physics class. physics class, I learn that
