Update the Lens Model. We can use the comprehensive capabilities of the neural network, and built in components of Photoshop, such as the GPU, to create a “Lens Model”. With a new Lens Model, we can update the Lens model, substantially improving the performance of the lens when we need to from the time. Handling the Motion. We can control the speed, type and camera movement. In addition to the increased speed, the Surface LUT can ensure the same look on all the surfaces. This can add photo handles and shades throughout the whole process. With the higher speed, there is a possibility to create a very powerful system, which would give users a way to maximize the end product. Stabilization of the Optical Systems. The stabilization system’s recent development has been able to stabilize the slow imaging movement within two or three frames at a time. The 180 degree flip image can be completed in about two frames. To do this, as the image is processed in the computer in a specified area, only the frame area can determine the algorithm for the pixels. The Refining of the Processing Speed. To achieve stable processing, with the new lens model, the algorithm can run at high speed to generate a Neural Network result that can be associated with part of a model. This allows automated processing and processing to provide support. “We’re investing in Photoshop to keep the industry’s most experienced and creative users in front of the best tools for over 40 years,” said Bob Corder, senior vice president of Photoshop and Creative Solutions, Adobe. “With the Share for Review collaboration feature, Image Matching, Image Recognition and AI Selection technology, and the new features for desktop, we offer our most powerful Photoshop ever. Along the way we're innovating with high-quality features that help users create great imagery and unlock creativity at scale.”
