This is a unique and beautiful font designed by Orielle, inspired by the world of Harry Potter.Q: Cannot Deploy MySQL to Azure App Services I'm trying to setup a website deployment in Azure App Services so I can use MySQL, but I've encountered the following problem: If I try to set a random database (for example XYX) I get the following message: "The deployment profile definition specified could not be found by the application for the subscription 'XXXX'". The strange thing is that I can set up and use a MySQL database without any problems on my local machine, so this could be a problem of either MySQL or Azure? The versions of the server and MySQL are the following: MySQL 5.6.36 Azure MySQL App Service I've noticed that if I click on my XXXXX database and change the username to something like GGHGSGS@XXXXXX it'll work, but this is not what I want. I'm trying to automate this process as much as possible. A: You need to update your web.config file to include the following tag. The Web.config can be found in your project's root. If you have created a MySQL Database in Azure, you need to add the following line to the MySql Database section of your Web.Config file, to expose the database. 79a2804d6b
